Support for Extending Ombudsman's Remit

Dear President Connolly,

Thank you for your efforts to humanise the public conversation on immigration.

Ombudsman Ger Deering has called for a minimal legislative change to extend the Ombudsman remit to include the administration of immigration law. The statement highlighted a gap in independent administrative oversight and marked a significant step towards a fair and humane experience for the many people contributing to Ireland.

Receipt Brief has written separately to understand the Government's position on this request.

Your public support of independent administrative oversight, including for immigration law, would be invaluable.

Sincerely,

Stephanie Vallance
